MARSHALL FIELD IS PALE

Youth Who Inherits World's Largest' Mercantile Establishment Already Weighted Down by Responsibility.

NEW YORK, April 17.-Watchfully guarded by his mother and grandmother, accompanied by his brother and sister, and followed by a retinue of ten servants, young Marshall Field left Lakewood today on his way to sail for

Closely guarding the frail, slight studious-looking boy of twelve, who will Inherit more than $100,000,000 when he comes of age, were three stalwart men One was his avlet, the other his tutor, and the third a guard. It was their duty to see that not even the least annoyance came to the richest boy in the

The Field party, consisting of the young multi-millionaire and his three attendants; Mrs. Marshall Field, ir., his mother, and two maids; Mrs. Marshall Field, his grandmother, with two maids and a man servant, Henry Field, his brother, and valet, and Gwendelin Field, his sister, with a governess and maid, came up from Lakewood in a private car.

Spacious Quarters.

They sailed today for Europe on the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, on which they have four cabins besides additional quarters for their servants.

Carriages were ready at the railroad depot, and no time was lost in geting the boy into one of them. He was pale and apparently without enthusiasm, certainly without that glow of expectancy such as would stir the ordinary boy of

His Great Task.

He is being fitted for the great responsibility that will rest upon his shoulders when he has the direction of the largest mercantile establishment in the largest mercantile establishment in the world. Even the trip to Europe has partly an educational and partly a curative pur-pose for the boy. Eventually he will be sent to college.

USED TABLE KNIFE TO KILL WOMAN

by James Fortny, Also Colored.

An inquest will be held at the morgue tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock over the body of Ida Watson, colored, twelve at the prospect of a sea trip and twenty-three years old, who, the police a long stay in Europe.

But the child's manner of life was no doubt responsible for this lack of the usual sentiments of boyhood. While at southwest, last night, by James Fortny, the Beard Cottage, at Lakewood, a large, rambling house, young Marshall Field has been kept to a strict routine of study. plunged the knife into her abdomen half a dozen times, and Bicycle Policemen Russell and Cullinane, of the Fourth precinct station, will testify.

Fortny is alleged to have made a con fession. It is said by the police that he first stated that he killed the woman in an uncontrollable paroxysm of rage, in an uncontrollable paroxysm of rage, and later declared that he used the knife in self defense when attacked by the Watson woman and her brothers. The police say Fortny and the Watson woman have been living together for some time, and have had frequent quarrels. Last night Fortny arrived at the Brown court late and commanded the woman to prepare something to eat. While the cooking was being done the two are said to have quarreled because he was not prompt at his meals. Fortny struck the woman, and her brothers, John and William, went to her assistance, and began pummeling Fortny. He says this so infuriated him that he seized a knife off the table and knocking the brothers aside began stabbing the woman in the abdomen.

The injured woman ran down stairs to the first floor and into the alley. Fortny followed her to the mouth of the alley at Third street, and just as he raised the knife to plunge it into her back, she fell to the ground lifeless.

pleted in strict accord with D. A. R. election law, and announced to the congress by the national authorities as a legal election, can it be contested by a delegate from another State upon any ground whatever?

2. Could it be challenged by the State itself upon any grounds other than a violation of the constitutional requirements in the case?

3. Would such a motion as the above, requesting the investigation of the credentials of the State officers (whose election has been officially announced by the national authorities) unseat these State officers or prevent them, in any way, from fulfilling the duties of their office and receiving all the privileges attached thereto?

4. All judicial power in the N. S. D. A. R. being vested in the continental congress, and the board being an administrative body only, can the power to settle a contested election, which is purely a judicial act, be delegated to any body by the congress?

5. Upon the passage of such a motion as the above, would not the whole power of the board be confined to an investigation of the constitutional requirements in the case, and bringing back to the congress a report of its investigations?

7. Would such a motion give the board power to act upon the case, when "the power to congress had the power to delegate this authority?

8. Would the passage of such a motion give to the presiding officer of the board the right to refuse to the State officers, under the D. A. R. election law, recognition as members of the national board, thus depriving the State, however temporarily of its constitutional rights?

9. Would they be the State officers until proven disqualified?

Rights of Presiding Officer.

10. The recording secretary general, in May, having notified these officers that they were the legally elected State oficers of their State, and having notified them to attend the June board meeting as the representatives of their State, had the presiding officer of the board the right to refuse to recognize them as members of the board when they attended the June meeting at the order of the

was the basis of the motion to investigate, had been filed, as was promised by the delegate who contested the election, and copies of the same had been furnished three weeks in advance of the consideration of the case, to the persons who were attacked therein?

12 Was the action of the board in confirming these officers in June 2nd in seating them at that time an act within the power of the board.

If such a motion as the above was passed by the Congress, is, it not the duty of the board to report back to the succeeding congress the results of such investigation, and the truth or error of the charges which were publicly made in the congress, and would not the failure to do this be a direct violation of the personal rights of the members of the congress?

Are the statutes in force until repealed?

Are the statutes of the same impor-tance as the constitution and by-laws?

There are two classes of remedies; those of known quality and which are permanently beneficial in effect, acting gently, in harmony with nature, when nature needs assistance; and another class, composed of preparations of unknown, uncertain and inferior character, acting temporarily, but injuriously, as a result of forcing the natural functions unnecessarily. One of the most exceptional of the remedies of known quality and excellence is the ever pleasant Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., which represents the active principles of plants, known to act most beneficially, in a pleasant syrup, in which the wholesome Californian blue figs are used to contribute their rich, yet delicate, fruity flavor. It is the remedy of all remedies to sweeten and refresh and cleanse the system gently and naturally, and to assist one in evercoming constipation and the many ills resulting therefrom. Its active principles and quality are known to physicians generally, and the remedy has therefore met with their approval, as well as with the favor of many millions of well informed persons who know of their own personal knowledge and from actual experience that it is a most excellent laxative remedy. We do not claim that it will cure all manner of ills, but recommend it for what it really represents, a laxative remedy of known quality and excellence, containing nothing of an objectionable or injurious character.

THE LAXATIVE OF

There are two classes of purchasers; those who are informed as to the quality of what they buy and the reasons for the excellence of articles of exceptional merit, and who do not lack courage to go elsewhere when a dealer offers an imitation of any well known article; but, unfortunately, there are some people who do not know, and who allow themselves to be imposed upon. They cannot expect its beneficial effects if they do not get the genuine remedy.

To the credit of the druggists of the United States be it said that nearly all of them value their reputation for professional integrity and the good will of their customers too highly to offer imitations of the
